

FREEDOM PLAN 2024

The projects listed here are designed to include a broad range of serious campaigners who have by now recognized that they have been divided from one another through the operation of agent provocateurs and change agents.

They are intended to facilitate the growth of all participant groups and promote no political policy at the expense of any other. My hope is that we can assist each other against a common opponent who wishes to censor, to ridicule and demoralize us.

Inclusion in any of these plans need not commit your group to the whole endeavour – you can cherry pick the projects which interest you. Nor are these ideas comprehensive or final – I'll happily hear any further suggestions you might have for additions.

I hope that these initiatives will help get us all over many of the hurdles which we have struggled with over the years, also that some strategic cooperation between us will lead to greater clarity and comradely between us as it is clear to me that many divisions have been created where they are not helpful or legitimate.

Please look over my suggestions and reply with questions, comments and suggestions. Without your involvement, my work will stagnate. I'm convinced that we cannot win without each other, and that each of the groups I'm sending this brochure to have a piece of a whole solution to the crisis we face.

The system is fraudulent.
The game is rigged.
A monopoly is beating us on every play.
We've fallen prey to convenience at the expense of fairness.
It's time to take back control!

Where does our money go when we spend it?

Part of it is taxed. Another part ends up in the pockets of giant companies with massive political influence. The market forces which are supposed to ensure quality control through competition no longer work – they no longer can.

We can change all this.

Spend money with people who deserve it.

Vet the companies and organizations who supply services and products you need.

Shop in a market where everybody holds common interests with you.

Support the people who are working for your survival as well as their own -

As well as The World's.

There are so many ways for us to help each other and I'm certain that your new year wish list looks a lot like mine. So while I know many of you have similar projects which are well under way, it can't hurt to communicate. I hope you will share with me and allow me to share with you, and lask you to return this...

Bring and Fly Picket Party

Hundreds of protest groups are currently campaigning and need more support, more members and greater penetration for their message. These groups share many problems and have many common or related issues, but because we are not identical in our concerns, we are failing to share the workload on the common concerns which are abundant considered individually as singular issues.

To maximise the impact of groups across the spectrum of dissatisfaction I propose a form of fair and conscientious sharing. The name is a play on the terms: 'Bring and buy', and Flying picket'.

We will assemble a list of all active groups in our area and invite a delegation from each to attend a meeting and bring all of the literature they want distributed. We will all place these on tables with a form. The form will be an itemised list of our materials with a check box for every group to tick or leave blank. Ours might begin:

Stand In The Park
	Socialist Party	Rebels on roundabouts	10 Billion States (me)
Anti-vax		TICK	TICK
Anti-tax		TICK
Anti-flouride		TICK
Anti-WEF		TICK	TICK
Anti-wealth divide	TICK	TICK	TICK
Anti-corruption	TICK	TICK	TICK
Anti-5G		TICK
Anti-Uniparty	TICK	TICK	TICK

Each group also declares their number of active members and their geographical reach. E.g.:

SITP 30 – 50 members. West Devon, East Cornwall.

We can then calculate (on the night) the value of the carriage offers. These will be a straight trade – we get what we give, within the ethical limits the delegates declare.

A further meeting can then be held to work out the logistics and determine the optimum way to move all the literature.

Citizen Switchboard

Many campaigners have landed in the wrong organization. You may be one of them, you may know some in your group very well. It is unsurprising as so many of us count ourselves lucky to have found a group at all, and because most of our groups have been censored or negatively portrayed.

Let's be honest. It's in no decent person's interest to hinder a person who wants to work, in finding the place where they will be most effective and fulfilled. While cooperation is important between campaigning organizations, facilitating recruitment and transference of members is of paramount importance to most of us.

Citizen Switchboard is a matching service for campaigners and organizations. It's straightforward enough. We design a questionnaire and we categorize all the organizations. We can correct and refine as we go.

A simple method to proceed would be that we form a company, build a website, and ask a member from every participating group to act as liaison with the operator. Costs should be minimal, and met by donations from the groups who use the service. The data should be confidential.

A questionnaire might look like this;

CITIZEN SWITCHBOARD (orientation questionnaire)

1. Which of the following issues concern you? (pick as many as you feel strongly about)
2. What are your skills? (pick as many as you are willing to use for the causes you want to work on)
3. Where do you live?
4. How many hours per week do you want to campaign?
5. Do you have a website or a social media page which you already use to fight causes?
6. Do you have a business you believe operates ethically? (we will promote this)

Sinerr Staff

Sinerr Recruitment

Sinerr recruitment is the labour exchange for the freedom movement. It's a play on words. We don't make mistakes. It's a nod to Fiverr, but we can low-ball their low-ball. Sinerr recruitment is founded on the principle that there 4 good things about work:

1. Learning
2. Pay
3. Power
4. Pleasure

If an employer wants employees they need to satisfy these to as high a degree as possible. So Sinerr is reversing the power relationship between the recruits and their recruiters. Employers tell us what they need and we tell them what it will cost. We are doing this to beat the mainstream in recruiting membership.

This can be carried out in concert with boycotts and buycotts but needn't be limited just to companies we know personally. It's a business venture which takes advantage of the near complete failure of a monopolized labour market and a no-brainer for jobseekers. It can be a serious part of raising a war chest.

Sponsors will found a board of directors. Support from the freedom movement will depend upon the company adhering to the core principle of empowering employees.

EXIT COUNTDOWN

Who isn't stuck doing business with somebody or other who completely sucks?

Make a difference and make money when you mass boycott.

At ExCo we run campaigns. We run big and small campaigns, and we try to help anybody who is breaking out of a relationship which is uneven and exploitative. If you want to change the way you live and remove yourself from the grip of a bad service or suppliant, we want to promote your effort. We want to ensure that by the time you close your books on the old deal, you have a better deal. We are particularly interested in people who plan to boycott the following:

Welfare
Banks
Big Retail and Supermarkets
Employment (specific or general)
Software
Government

When you kick these assholes to the curb – we want to give you the boots to make it hurt!

STEP 1 – MAKE A PLAN

You are in this relationship why? What are the services or goods you are getting from the other party? Which are vital to you? These are the things you need to replace by your exit date. ExCo is here to find these replacements. Check our listings.

STEP 2 – SET A DATE

Once you've made a plan and set a date we can go into action raising public awareness about your exit. This is where you can help us. The more people who are aware of our service the more powerful a tool we can become. Once on our website, campaigners like us can find statistics they need to green light their own scale up plans. Remember there is a tipping point. The greater the migration from bad to good services becomes, the less able these exploitative businesses will be to fight back.

STEP 3 – START THE CLOCK

Now the ball is rolling. Now the help is coming. Every success is an open exit line for the next escapee! This is a gamble. I want gamblers to take ownership of their stake and crash the house.

How many times in recent years have you been at meetings discussing money. Money for trivialities: Transportation, accommodation, getting out of town for rest, arranging meetings with your counterparts 30 miles away, or the logistics of getting speakers to attend your events?

Underground B&B is aiming a movement wide solution to all of these problems and free up everyone's time for more important matters. The requirement from you is to send us the details of the lodgings, storage and transportation your community can offer, and the terms of use which you are comfortable with. Or to use us first if you need transport, accommodation, storage, or any other travel arrangements.

We will do our best to list as many venues, rooms, apartments, storerooms, transportations, and any other facilities we can think of, and try and coordinate trips, visits, relocations, gigs, conferences, storage and haulage with whatever is available.

We ask that any participating organization elects a delegate to be your local Underground B&B Rep. This Rep should then gather and compile a list of every resource the group can provide in as much detail as seems necessary, the size and quality of every space, mobile or otherwise, pictures, terms and availability. Once we have a database and the list of Reps to contact. Underground B&B can become the travel agent and courier for the freedom movement.

In the first place, we ask that you reply, filling the form below. If there is sufficient uptake (say 50 facilities and 10 Reps), we will go ahead and form the enterprise.

Publash

The Freedom Movement's publishing company

We need a dedicated publishing house for both our paper and digital literature. There are several useful resources, hubs and the like where our work is promoted, and our groups are better organized than they were a year ago, generally. But the simple and obvious definitive service company which owns printing presses and servers has not yet materialized.

Now we should pool our talents, found a single company from among our groups that will operate to meet our needs, and be ready to finance and scale as we grow. The outlay is not great, the savings are immediate and not trivial.

Initially we will need: Proof readers, editors, typesetters, web designers, accountants, administrators, and financiers.

The company should have a board of directors which is representative of the freedom movement as a whole, and we should all be partners in it. But this is not the foundation of a corporate control over the entire movement. This is simply a service company built to support the movement while the movement does it's thing. Such a company should phase out as we fulfil our purpose – freeing the planet.

We're developing a peer to peer interest group to monitor government fraud and malpractice in welfare.

We're here to offer advice on talking to your work coaches and to record your feedback on their conduct.

We believe that legal advice is needed when talking with anybody working at government or civil service jobs.

Wacky (Wealth) Warehouse

A mechanism to match our logistics. We set the value of all assets according to haulage, and all of us work against the expense. Goods change their value at every junction. Handing itself is government – so power is distribution facilitation. In this way not only do we kill off lack of confidence (The bigger the play, the greater the universal interest.), we create liquidity.

Process:

When you enter the market with your product, you tell us the price, and our first action is to set the price of your money (what you charge) against your product. Then, instead of formulating a cost of haulage which you will be paying – inevitably, we consider those goods as the cost of moving that money. Then we float the value of the good and the money is backed up by people moving the goods, while you go and spend the money.

Explanation:

We are positioned in a slow lane. We have primitive distribution. We work over longer timescales as measured against volume. This becomes opportune if we make the value of goods in transit – i.e. ‘warehoused’ higher against the general market. It seems we have supply line problems, but if we make the value of goods in transit currency, we’re paid to take our time, and this won’t become a bad habit because we’ll be working hard against the slowness. The buy out, exchanging our currency for ‘normy notes’ only diminishes when we start to get a massive transference to our domains.

Airgob – Currency Exchange

Airgid – Silver, Gobha – Smith (Gaelic)

To break the monopoly on testing value the Freedom Movement must treat currencies as customers. We need to offer a fairer, more attractive exchange system than our opponents. We should not be speculators within their system, because we will always lose that game.

An alternative currency exchange allows us to keep what is ours but convert what is theirs. We who are committed to ending their monetary systems are as committed to our value system as they are to theirs, but by providing choice in the uncommitted we, in effect, recreate the free market.

Each time our opponent commits fraud, we gain a market share in value setting, yet we can lose nothing until we approach their level of control.

Airgob is an evolution of digital currencies. It attacks the last and most powerful of institutions – the central banks.

Gaelic was chosen because it's speakers are among the longest abused people on Earth. Silver because it's only cool until it works. It then becomes Sgrior.

Other people have mentioned this to me and there have been campaigns. It is not my speciality but it needs including here. It's a campaign which needs numbers so we should play this card when we have momentum.

Politics is in a deadlock of unreal and insurmountable dichotomies. These days the left and the right are both fighting against a common enemy who is contemptuous of both. Real power is no longer accessible to ordinary people whether we live in a democracy or otherwise. Our destinies are controlled by powers beyond legal political processes, fuelled by a monopolised media and motivated by agendas never revealed.

It should now be our cause, first to take back our power and secondly to build a new system to protect that power. The age we live in poses a new opportunity as well as a new danger. In the world before digitisation, it was contended that the people were sovereign. Majority rule and representative democracy were considered the optimum protection for our freedom. Today it is possible to improve on this optimum: We can make the person sovereign. We can build our own individual states and live or die by our own rules.

10 Billion States

10 Billion States is a new project aiming to do just this: Legislate for and create treaties between a global population of single human states.

Under standard democratic rule, we are likely to be disappointed about 50% of the time. Why endure this? If the State's power comes from us, why do we remain in that state when it behaves contrary to our wishes? Why shout out 'This is not my will!' or 'Not in my name!' when we can simply remove our support from governments, leaving them powerless, people-less, resourceless and voiceless?

Begin building your future State with us today!
